THE LIFE AND TIMES OF POMP:
JEAN BAPTISTE CHARBONNEAU

- SACAJAWEA'S SON -

As an infant, Jean Baptiste Charbonneau accompanied the Corps of Discovery to the Pacific. He grew to be a fur trade legend, witnessing the Santa Fe Trail, Mexican War, and California gold rush.

Of Shoshone and French-Canadian heritage, Charbonneau was adopted by William Clark and educated in the finest European tradition. Hear the epic story of Sacagawea's well-traveled son, "Pomp."

This is an interactive "hands-on" presentation with historically accurate Lewis & Clark Gear. Acclaimed as one of the best "first person interpreters," Garry Bush brings history alive for the audience. Sacajawea and Pomp's illnesses discussed by L&C Medicine Expert John Fisher
